The Tools Light up Christmas

By Mike Bannerman

It was an early, snowy Christmas Eve morning in Twin Falls. The sun hadn't even woken up yet.

Hector Hammer was already up in his plane, flying over the farm. He was heading straight for the windmill.

Usually Hector could see the windmill easily. It has a big red light on top that flashes all night long, so planes know it's there.

But this morning, the light wasn't flashing at all...

WHOOSH! Hector swerved just in time — missing the windmill by an inch. That was close.
VERY close!

Hector showed Diesel the broken light. Diesel was meant to fix it ages ago, but he kept forgetting! Hector told him to fix it straight away, before something crashed into the windmill.

Let's hope Diesel remembers this time...

As the sun came up, the other tools were already out having fun in the snow. There were snowmen everywhere and candy canes all through the town. It was nearly Christmas!

Up on the mountain, Roxie, Wayne and Paz were having a sledge race. Roxie was in the lead, of course!

Patrick had a special load on his Christmas train today
— a donkey and some sheep, off to town for the nativity stable! They were all excited and waiting...
But Patrick was eating a sandwich. He's always eating a sandwich!

Eventually, he got going. The Christmas train looked magical, all decorated with twinkling lights!

Charlie the Chainsaw was busy delivering Christmas trees all over the town! His big yellow rig was piled high with them. This is Charlie's busiest time of year, as he delivers Christmas trees all over the country!

Over at the bistro,
Lorenzo was ready for Christmas. He was baking Christmas
cookies,
a job he takes
VERY seriously!

Only a few more hours until Christmas day! There were lights to hang, hay to carry and a whole town to decorate!

Lorenzo came out with a tray of warm Christmas cookies for everyone...SPLAT!

A snowball hit him! Lorenzo and his cookies went flying!

Lorenzo was FURIOUS! He chased Paz all around the town.
But was it really Paz who threw that snowball?
Nobody knows!

It didn't take long for Monty the Moose
to come along — and eat ALL of Lorenzo's cookies!

Next, the crew got to work on the big Christmas tree. Hector, Dakota, Bettie and Diesel hung baubles, tinsel and lights on every branch.

It was the biggest Christmas tree Twin Falls had ever seen!

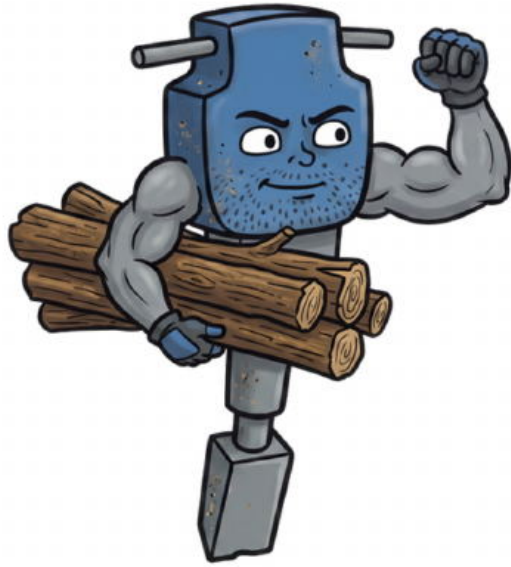

It was already glowing against the white snow. Just imagine how magical it would look at night!

Paz was walking the donkey to the stable to feed him.
Then Paz had an idea... why walk when you can ride?
He jumped on the donkey's back, and the donkey took off like a rocket! Christmas decorations flew off in every direction. Paz thought it was brilliant!

The donkey raced through the town, faster and faster... straight towards JJ, who was carrying a big pile of logs!

SMASH! JJ went flying — straight into the Christmas tree! The whole tree came crashing down!

Now the real work began! The tools put the tree back up and got the whole town ready for Christmas.

Hector finished building the stable, and Dakota carried the littlest lamb, who kept getting lost in the snow!

At last, the Christmas tree was finished.

As night fell, it
glowed beautifully, its lights sparkling across the icy lake.

Twin Falls had never looked so magical!

Look who's arrived in the sky! Santa was on his way to deliver presents to children all around the world. As he flew over Twin Falls, he was heading straight for the windmill! The reindeer couldn't see it, because the light STILL wasn't working.

CRASH! They flew straight into the windmill!

Oh, Diesel!

Floyd the Firehose rushed straight out to see what was going on. Floyd takes safety VERY seriously! But when he got there, he came across some reindeer. "Where have all these reindeer come from?!" said Floyd.

Santa looked worried. His sleigh was very broken.

The rest of the crew came out to see what was going on, and they couldn't believe their eyes. It was SANTA!

Roxie, Wayne and Sam took a good look at the sleigh.
Hector shook Santa's hand.
"Don't worry, Santa," he said.
"Fixing things is what we do best!"

Paz gave one of the reindeer a snack. Then Monty came galloping over! He'd never seen reindeer before, and he was VERY excited to meet them.

The tools got straight to work!
Lorenzo kept Santa busy with his cookies — at last, somebody was eating them!

Billy got the red paint, and before long, the sleigh was finished — gleaming and good as new!

Meanwhile Diesel was FINALLY fixing the light.

Santa and his reindeer took off into the night sky! The tools waved them off, cheering "MERRY CHRISTMAS!"

Then they noticed something. The reindeer at the very front wasn't a reindeer at all — it was Monty! "Well, I never," said Floyd. "A flying moose!"

The tools gathered around the nativity scene they had built. There were Mary and Joseph, with baby Jesus in the manger, and the donkey and the sheep close by. Above them, a bright star shone in the sky — just like the star that shone over Bethlehem on the very first Christmas.

The tools sipped hot chocolate and left their presents ready for the morning. Tomorrow was Christmas Day — the day we celebrate God's greatest gift, baby Jesus!

And it looked like Santa had left something behind for the tools, too...

THE END

Merry Christmas
from all The Tools!

The idea of The Tools came to me when I was 7 years old. I was doodling on a piece of paper and drew a saw with a face and arms and legs. Soon, more tool characters were created and my mum, dad and close family would always encourage me to make something of it.

Years later, I used the same idea and stories and created these children's books. With a Christian upbringing, I've always had a strong relationship with God and I truly believe He blesses us with ideas and things we might not even think to use. So for every idea or story that I write or have written, to God be the glory. Please find the inspirational Bible quote at the back of each of my books and may God bless each and every one of you.

" To you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord ".
