

THE TOOLS and the MONSTER TRUCK

The Tools Copyright © 2026 Michael James Bannerman
The Tools Copyright © Michael James Bannerman 1997

The Tools™ is a trademark of Triceratops Publishing Ltd. UK Trade Mark No.
UK00004404535.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, distributed or transmitted in any form or by any means, or stored in a database or retrieval system without the prior written permission of the copyright holder. Scripture taken from the International Children's Bible®. Copyright © 1986, 1988, 1999, 2015 by Thomas Nelson. Used by permission.

Written By Mike Bannerman

Paperback

ISBN 978-1-9192077-2-8

The Tools and The Monster Truck

Dr. Mike D. D. D. D.

Trade preview · not for resale · © Triceratops Publishing Ltd · thetools.online

It was the most beautiful summer day in Twin Falls and Paz and Roxie had a brilliant idea — the beach! The waves were perfect, the sun was sparkly and warm and everything was absolutely wonderful! There was a little sign by the water that warned of jellyfish near the shore.

Roxie stopped and read it very carefully. Paz did a big run up and dived straight in. Whooooosh!

The jellyfish were EVERYWHERE! Big ones!
Small ones! Wiggly ones! And they were all following Paz!

Go Paz go! He surfed faster and faster and faster until — WHOMP — he crashed onto the sand! Safe at last!

Paz looked up at Roxie. He had seaweed all over his face, in his hair and one very happy little jellyfish sitting right on top of his bristles. He flicked his hair - without being stung - and the jellyfish splashed back into the sea.

Luckily he was careful not to touch it!

ZOOM! Off they went in Roxie's brilliant pink beach buggy, tearing through the desert with dust flying everywhere and cacti whizzing past! Hector was going to be wondering where on earth they had got to!

Roxie put her foot down and the buggy bounced and bumped and zoomed along the desert road — until suddenly Roxie's eyes went WIDE and she hit the brakes as hard as she could!

SCREEEECH!

Sitting right there in the middle of the desert was the dustiest old pickup truck they had ever seen! No wheels! Loads of rust! A little sign that said SCRAP! Someone must have left it there and driven away! Paz and Roxie walked all the way around it. They looked at each other. Then they looked at the sad old truck again, both with a smile on their face!

Perhaps the tools could turn this rusty old pickup into the most incredible monster truck Twin Falls had ever seen? For the 4th July Parade!

Back in Twin Falls, Diesel and Hector were having a very lovely, very relaxed, very peaceful coffee break at the garage. So relaxed that they hadn't noticed the car on the ramp dripping oil all over the floor!

Then BANG —
the door flew open and in burst Paz and Roxie with the most exciting news Twin Falls
had heard all summer long!
The plan to build a monster truck!

Shamus the Shovel did not look very excited about leaving his cup of tea and his newspaper. But off he rumbled in his enormous purple truck with the big swinging crane on the back — all the way out to the desert to collect the rusty old truck. Up it went on the crane — WHOOOMP — and onto the flatbed it landed! Hector was very excited to get to work. Back to Twin Falls they went! It arrived at Diesel's garage and everyone crowded round to have a look. It was even rustier up close!

A monster truck needs monster truck tyres! Enormous ones! Gigantic ones! Wayne took Paz and Roxie to the tyre shop and told Paz very clearly — not to mess about! Paz nodded!

Paz climbed straight on top of the biggest tyre and knocked it over! Off it rolled downhill with Paz on top going faster and faster! Wayne and Roxie ran away as fast as their legs could go!

Oh Paz!

Back at the garage the monster truck build had begun! Wayne stacked all the brand new tyres into a beautiful perfect tower and felt very pleased indeed!

Then Diesel had one of his ideas. Diesel's ideas were always very big and over the top. This one was about exhaust stacks. Enormous exhaust stacks. That shot flames into the air. Sam the Spanner started to look worried.

“It’ll be FINE!” said Diesel whilst bolting on the enormous exhaust stacks. Sam took a very big step back! Diesel rubbed his hands together, winked at Sam, and fired up the engine! Here we go!

WHOOSH! The flames didn't go up — they went SIDEWAYS — straight into Wayne's beautiful brand new tyre tower! While Diesel and Sam ran off, Hector tried to put the fire out.

Floyd the Firehose came roaring in on his brilliant off road fire truck — built specially for the bumpy desert sand and rocks — and had that fire out in a few seconds!

WHOOOOOSH! Then he stood very straight, gave Diesel the longest look, picked up his notebook and started writing his safety report. He wrote a very long one. Diesel looked guilty. Again.

Wayne walked very slowly over to his tyres. He looked at them furiously for a long time. They were burned. They were also quite a lot smaller than they used to be. He walked all the way back to the tyre shop. He was absolutely not taking Paz this time. Not a chance.

Right! Everyone back to work and this time
— let's get it right!

Now for the most important part — the paint! Paz was given very clear instructions — no bristles, no silly business, just beautiful red white and blue paint!

Wayne watched closely.

THE MONSTER TRUCK WAS FINISHED! It was the shiniest, most powerful Truck Twin Falls had ever seen! The tools stood around it looking very excited!

Even the garage was spotlessly clean! Diesel was already telling people he had built most of it.
Nobody corrected him.

It didn't matter.

The truck was ready!

Then Paz
dangled the keys in the air
with a cheeky grin.

Just around the corner, Lorenzo the Watering Can was carefully carrying in box after box of fresh tomatoes for his very special 4th July sauce! Everything was exactly as it should be! Then he heard something. A roaring V8 engine. Then the most enormous VROOM — the monster truck came flying straight through every single one of his tomato boxes!

“SORRY!” yelled Paz, poking his head out of the window. “Just getting used to it!” Lorenzo was furious! He was covered in splattered tomatoes! Roxie was in the back pickup bed of the truck with her camera held up high! Click! She took a photo for her collection.

“Don't worry Lorenzo, we can fix this — we promise!”
said Roxie, jumping down with her reassuring smile!
Lorenzo looked at the tomatoes. He looked at Roxie. He looked at all the tomatoes again. There were a very great number of tomatoes. He took a deep breath. Roxie always had a plan.

Floyd arrived for the second time that day. He wasn't surprised! He gave the truck a good wash. Meanwhile, Paz got the good tomatoes and took them over to Lorenzo! He was sorry! Lorenzo took them and smiled!

He forgave him. Paz always fixes what he breaks. It usually takes Roxie, Floyd, and everyone else's help — but he always fixes it!

Twin Falls was decorated ready for the parade!
Bunting and flags everywhere! The loader and excavator painted in red, white and blue! The whole crew dressed up ready and excited!

Floyd stood tall and ready! The crowd was cheering!
Everything was perfect! Then Floyd's radio crackled. Shamus the Shovel had somehow managed to get his enormous truck stuck in a ditch.
The monster truck was already on its way to it's first rescue! Just another perfectly normal day in Twin Falls!

THE END

Found the secret word?

Somewhere in this book is a secret word. Only those who have read every page will find it!

Scan the QR code below to unlock your FREE surprise from Twin Falls!

The idea of The Tools came to me when I was 7 years old. I was doodling on a piece of paper and drew a saw with a face and arms and legs. Soon, more tool characters were created and my mum, dad and close family would always encourage me to make something of it.

Years later, I used the same idea and stories and created these children's books. With a Christian upbringing, I've always had a strong relationship with God and I truly believe He blesses us with ideas and things we might not even think to use. So for every idea or story that I write or have written, to God be the glory. Please find the inspirational Bible quote at the back of each of my books and may God bless each and every one of you.

" Help each other with your troubles. When you do this, you truly obey the law of Christ. "

Galatians 6:2

Collect the whole series!

Find all our books and toys at thetools.online/shop

Free colouring pages and more at: thetools.online

- Free Colouring Pages

- Fun interactive website

Find Us Everywhere!
linktr.ee/thetools1997

Facebook - The Tools
Children's Series

Instagram - thetools1997

TikTok - thetools1997

